FELLOWSHIP PLEDGE

RECOGNIZING that the American College of Surgeons seeks to develop, exemplify, and enforce the highest traditions of our calling, I hereby pledge myself, as a condition of Fellowship in the College, to live in strict accordance with all its principles, declarations, and regulations. In particular, I pledge myself to pursue the practice of surgery with thorough self-restraint and to place the welfare of my patients above all else; to advance constantly in knowledge by the study of surgical literature, the instruction of eminent teachers, interchange of opinion among associates, and attendance on the important societies and clinics; to regard scrupulously the interest of my professional brothers and seek their counsel when in doubt of my own judgment; to render willing help to my colleagues and to give freely my services to the needy. Moreover, I pledge myself, so far as I am able, to avoid the sins of selfishness; to shun unwarranted publicity, dishonest money-seeking, and commercialism as disgraceful to our profession; to refuse utterly all secret money trades with consultants and practitioners; to teach the patient his financial duty to the physician and to urge the practitioner to obtain his reward from the patient openly; to make my fees commensurate with the service rendered and with the patient's rights; and to avoid discrediting my associates by taking unwarranted compensation. Finally, I pledge myself to coöperate in advancing and extending, by every lawful means within my power, the influence of the American College of Surgeons.

GENERAL STATEMENT

ORGANIZATION OF THE COLLEGE

THE American College of Surgeons is a society of surgeons of the United States and of Canada which aims to include within its Fellowship all who are of worthy character and who possess a practical knowledge of the science and art of surgery. The College is fundamentally concerned with matters of character and of training, with the betterment of hospitals and of the teaching facilities in medical schools and hospitals, with laws which relate to medical practice and privilege, and with an unselfish protection of the public from incompetent medical service.

The College was organized on May 5, 1913, in Washington, D. C., when four hundred and fifty prominent surgeons came together at the invitation of an Organization Committee which had been appointed by the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America at its meeting in November, 1912. This Committee consisted of Edward Martin of Philadelphia, Emmet Rixford of San Francisco, John B. Murphy of Chicago, Rudolph Matas of New Orleans, Albert J. Ochsner of Chicago, Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Frederic J. Cotton of Boston, George Emerson Brewer of New York, John M. T. Finney of Baltimore, Walter W. Chipman of Montreal, George W. Crile of Cleveland, and Franklin H. Martin of Chicago. By-laws, rules, and regulations were adopted, and the Board of Regents, the Board of Governors, and the officers of the College were elected. Details of these matters are published in the Year Book and in other bulletins of the College.

THE ENDOWMENT FUND

In order to provide funds for the organization of the College, an initial fee of fifty dollars from each Fellow was voted at the first meeting. Realizing that the income to be derived in this manner was temporary and inadequate, and desiring to place the College on a sound financial basis, the Fellows voted in June, 1914, to raise an Endowment Fund of one million dollars. This plan provided that the Endowment should be invested in perpetuity and only the income used for the budget of the College.

It developed later that the educational work of the College called for expenditures beyond the income provided by the interest of the Endowment, and the Fellows of the College, at the annual meeting held in Philadelphia in 1916, voted that those who had not subscribed to the Fund should be assessed by annual dues of twenty-five dollars each. The full resolution provided:

1. That the initial Fellowship fee of the College is $100, payable upon notification of election to Fellowship. The initial Fellowship fee of candidates whose applications were filed at the executive offices of the College before November 1, 1914, is $50.

2. That annual dues of the College are provided as follows:

1. That the annual dues of the Fellows of the College be $25, payable January 1.

2. That all Fellows who have subscribed $500 to the Endowment Fund of the College be exempt from annual dues.

3. That the total amount required of any Fellow in annual dues or other fees shall not exceed $500.

4. That the Board of Regents cancel the indebtedness of any Fellow of the College, without publicity, to whom, in its judgment, such dues are a hardship.

5. That no Fellow of the College be asked to contribute any fee whatever to the College either after sixty-five years of age or after he has retired from the active practice of surgery.

More than half a million dollars has already been raised for the Endowment, and the Regents desire to bring the Fund up to one million dollars as rapidly as possible. A Fellow may become a life member of the College at any time by subscribing five hundred dollars to the permanent Endowment Fund. Subscription cards, similar to the illustrated form, may be obtained from the Secretary General of the College.

In case of death all unpaid balances are cancelled.

ENDOWMENT FUND

I hereby subscribe Five Hundred ($500) Dollars to the Endowment Fund of the American College of Surgeons, the amount to be paid in installments as follows:

Date	mount	Date	Amount	Date	Amount

I further agree to pay interest on unpaid balances of this pledge at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum.

THE CLINICAL CONGRESS OF THE AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SURGEONS

By the joint action of a committee appointed by the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America and of the Regents of the College, the Clinical Congress of Surgeons became on October 25, 1917, the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons. The following resolution effected the merger of these two organizations:

WHEREAS, the past presidents of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons were, on October 26, 1916, in Philadelphia, appointed as a Committee with power to act, to confer with the American College of Surgeons with a view to closer affiliation between these two organizations; and

WHEREAS, the Regents of the College, in accordance with Section VI, Article 3 of the By-Laws of the College, constitute a governing board with power to act with regard to the proposed affiliation. Now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, that it is the unanimous decision of the Committee of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, as above stated, and of the Regents of the American College of Surgeons in joint session, first, that for the welfare of the two organizations the management and the control of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons shall be vested hereafter in the American College of Surgeons; second, that hereafter the Clinical Congress of Surgeons shall be known as the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons with its invited guests.

SPECIAL AUDIT OF ACCOUNTS

Soon after this affiliation had been effected, the President of the American College of Surgeons deemed it advisable to review the affairs of the College and of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America in order that their organic union might start with full knowledge of the financial and business status of both organizations. He therefore appointed an Auditing Committee of five with authority to make this survey. This Committee met at the offices of the College on December 31, 1917, and after a thorough examination of all the books, papers, and records concerning the business of the American College of Surgeons and of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, submitted the following report:

We, the Auditing Committee of the American College of Surgeons, find the accounts of the American College of Surgeons and of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons correct in every respect, the methods of bookkeeping accurate, and proper vouchers and receipted bills on hand for all moneys paid out. No money has been spent without proper authority and only for value received.

We desire to express to Dr. Franklin Martin, Secretary General, our appreciation of the vision, courage, and sincerity with which he originated and developed the American College of Surgeons and the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, and brought to a consummation the recent absorption of the latter organization by the former. The records show that Dr. Martin has at great personal sacrifice both of time and money made this result possible. We also wish to acknowledge our debt of gratitude to that master surgeon, the late Dr. John B. Murphy, for the aid he gave in promoting higher surgical education and fostering purer professional ideals.

THE PERMANENT ADMINISTRATIVE HOME*

Since the inception of the American College of Surgeons, a paramount problem in its organization has been the one of fixing a permanent central administrative home. From the beginning, in the minds of its friends and organizers the American College of Surgeons has been compared with the Royal College of Surgeons of England, with its nine centuries of accomplishments; its dignified home in Lincoln's Inn Fields, London; its Hunterian Museum; its great medical library; its collection of paintings and busts of men who made the history of surgery; and its store-house of traditions of unprecedented value. The American College of Surgeons, comprising the surgical profession of the United States and of Canada, and representing a population of one hundred and fifteen million people, must, they conceived, have a home which will compare favorably in dignity and importance with that of its predecessor in England; and while the counterpart cannot vie with its original in traditional treasures, it can offset these by the compensating advantages that accrue to the College because of its greater field of activity and its newer methods of attack.

Confronting the Regents at the outset in the consideration of a permanent home was a three-fold problem—location, financial means, and scope. The location was the most important phase on account of the spirit of contest which inevitably ensues when many individuals, who have varying ideals and who reside in widely different areas, are to be satisfied.

At the Philadelphia meeting in 1914 the Regents, as the result of a spirited discussion of the subject of a permanent home, appointed a committee to consider the matter, with Admiral Charles F. Stokes, formerly Surgeon General of the United States Navy and a resident of Washington, as Chairman. This Committee presented a tentative report at the annual meeting of the College held in Washington in 1914, which distinctly favored Washington as the home of the College inasmuch as it is the capital of the United States, the center of population of the East, and a distinctly neutral ground. Although the report was tentative and not supported by a definite recommendation, it was loudly applauded by a large number of the Fellows present. It was not, however, made a subject of vote because it had not received the cordial endorsement of all the Regents.

The subject of location was discussed by the College from three principal standpoints: First, should the home be situated in a medical teaching center? Second, should it be in the capital of the nation, which would also have the advantage of neutrality? Third, should it be in a geographical and medical teaching center of the United States? The greatest difference of opinion in the minds of those who discussed the matter seemed to be between the capital of the United States and one of the medical centers. After the above-mentioned Committee had submitted its report and recommendation, the subject of the future home of the College aroused an interest among many Fellows who had previously given it but little thought, and it became apparent that an opinion was developing which more and more favored one of the medical centers.

In the meantime the European war, since it was inevitable that we were to be drawn into it, was occupying our minds, and the problems of our medical societies and of the College were temporarily dwarfed.

CREATION OF THE JOHN B. MURPHY MEMORIAL
ASSOCIATION

But the horrors of a European war could not distract us from the great loss which the medical, and especially the surgical, profession of the world sustained in the death of one of the most distinguished Fellows and influential founders of our College, Dr. John B. Murphy. His death, occurring as it did at the height of his activity and influence, brought us face to face with the mutability of our transient problems. It also brought vividly to the minds of his nearest friends his transcendent interest in the American College of Surgeons and his regret that, at the time the permanent location of the College was discussed, Chicago, the city in which he had done his work, was not even seriously considered. Before he had been laid to rest, a host of his lay friends were discussing and planning a suitable memorial for this great man—something other than bronze or marble; something connected with his life's work; something useful; something essential; something enduring; something in Chicago.

The suggestion that in the permanent home of the American College of Surgeons a memorial hall bearing his name be dedicated to his memory, as the Hunterian Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons commemorates a leader of surgery of England, appealed to these friends, and an organization known as the John B. Murphy Memorial Association was immediately incorporated. The plans of this Association included the securing from the municipality of Chicago or from the citizens of Chicago a gift of land on which to build the first unit of the future home of the American College of Surgeons, the building to be known as the Murphy Memorial of the College.

It was obviously necessary that the tentative plans of this organization should be immediately considered by the College and a decision definitely rendered. It was mid-August and the Regents were scattered, enjoying their vacations. The Chicago contingent—the Treasurer, the Director, and the Secretary General—realized that favorable action could not be authorized concerning the tentative emergency offer of the Memorial Association without the consent of the Regents of the College. The Director and the Secretary General visited the President of the College in Nova Scotia and, in accordance with the program formulated at this interview, the Board of Regents met on call in New York City on September 20, 1916, with the following members present: Edward Martin, George E. Brewer, Frederic J. Cotton, Charles F. Stokes, George W. Crile, Charles H. Mayo, John M. T. Finney, and Franklin H. Martin. The plan of the Murphy Memorial Association to locate the College in Chicago, on a suitable site that would be furnished the organization without cost and on which would be erected one of the first structures or units of its home, to be known as the Murphy Memorial, was presented in detail and was unanimously approved. The Regents realized, however, that their judgment should be confirmed by a referendum vote accorded to all the Fellows. This was done by mail, and out of 1,865 votes cast, 1,550 favored Chicago, the 315 scattered votes favoring other cities.

The Memorial Association perfected its organization. Then came our entrance into the World War. The President of the Association, Mr. Hurley, was placed at the head of the United States Shipping Board; Judge John Barton Payne, a member of the Association, became Chief Counsel for the same Board, and other members were called to Washington for an indeterminate period. Seventy-five per cent. of our Canadian Fellows were already in France; in six months fifty per cent. of the Fellows in the United States were in uniform and fully thirty per cent. additional were doing other important work for their country. For two years, of necessity, all work of the Committee was abandoned.

With the signing of the Armistice, however, the frayed ends of peace-time were gathered up. It had been deemed possible that a site might be given to the College by the Park Commissioners of Chicago. Later it developed that such a gift might be attended by many legal difficulties, and might eventually involve the College in undesirable political complications.

POSSIBLE SITE IN CHICAGO

This view of the situation, substantiated by the best legal advice that could be secured, was imparted to the Regents at their meeting in Atlantic City in June, 1919, with the suggestion that the College accept, in lieu of a location in a public park of Chicago, a suitable site if purchased by the citizens of that City and made an outright gift, free from all entangling alliances, to the College.

In the discussion that followed it was made clear that the Regents favored the selection of a medical center rather than a neutral city. This opinion, supported by the referendum of the Fellows which had definitely favored Chicago, determined the Regents to authorize the Secretary General to negotiate for a site which was already under contemplation in Chicago, and to accept it in the name of the College as a gift from the citizens and Fellows of that city. A time limit of sixty days was given the Secretary General in which to accomplish this work.

A purchase price was secured and on July 1, 1919, after consultation with and obtaining the approval of the President, the Treasurer, and the Director, the Secretary General took a forty-five day option, the utmost that could be obtained, on the property which was afterward secured, and immediately proceeded to raise the money for the purchase. August 15th was the last date on which the option and the five thousand dollar guarantee could be redeemed.

The price placed on the property was one hundred thousand dollars, which was practically the value of the land. The property surrounding the site is in the process of transition from the most exclusive residence district of Chicago to that of high-class hotels and apartment buildings. Therefore, when the land is sold for business purposes, these residences are considered a liability rather than an asset because of the expense of wreckage. Many of them, including the one secured by the College, cost fabulous sums to build thirty years ago. Inasmuch as the building that goes with the College property is occupied now as a residence by the people who have owned it for many years, it has been kept thoroughly modernized and is in a perfect state of preservation.

To facilitate our campaign in raising the money, we divided the amount needed into two parts—seventy-five thousand dollars and twenty-five thousand dollars. We honored the millionaires by assigning to them the larger sum, and insisted that the Fellows of the College living in Chicago be content to contribute the smaller amount. The Association of Commerce interested itself in our task and gave us not only good advice but material assistance in planning our campaign. The real raising of the money, however, came by hard work in the way of personal solicitation. Two days before the option expired we were thirty thousand dollars short of the necessary amount. On Saturday, August 15th, two days later, we had to give notice of acceptance of the property or lose it, with our deposit. While there were a number of good prospects in sight, actual subscriptions were not in hand. To fulfill to the letter our instructions from the Board of Regents as recorded by their vote, the accepted site must be guaranteed to the College without a cent of the purchase price coming from that Institution. The Secretary General took the matter to the Treasurer; what could be done to save the seventy thousand dollars already subscribed and to secure the home of the College? It was decided that the Treasurer and the Secretary General should personally underwrite the outstanding balance, and notice of the purchase of the property was given. Today the deficit on the guarantee is eleven thousand dollars. A number of good prospects are being followed up, and there is no doubt that the whole amount will be subscribed before December 1st and the underwriters of the diminishing deficit released.

In the meantime title to the property has been taken in the name of the College, and sixty thousand dollars paid on the contract. The house has been rented to the late owners and present occupants until March 1, 1920, for a sum considerably in excess of the rent that we are now paying for our temporary quarters. The property which has been purchased for the College is located on the northeast corner of Cass and Erie Streets. The building faces Erie Street and is a block and a half west of the main driving thoroughfare, Lake Shore Drive, with a two-minute bus service from and to the loop center; it is one block east of North State Street, with a through line of trolley cars; it is less than a mile from the most distant loop hotel; it is a five to ten minute walk from the central business section of the city. The lot has a frontage of one hundred and fifty feet on Erie Street, and a depth on Cass Street of one hundred and nine feet. It occupies the southwest one-fourth of the block, giving the building a south and a west exposure. The building, occupying sixty-five feet of the lot and extending its full depth, was built thirty years ago at a cost in excess of four hundred thousand dollars. It has a three story and basement elevation, and is constructed of steel, Bedford stone, bronze, and marble; it presents the dignified appearance of a building erected for semi-public and semi-business purposes, is thoroughly fireproof throughout, and is eminently suitable for the purposes of the College. The late owners have within the past ten years spent a considerable sum of money in adding a new heating plant, an up-to-date lighting system, and other modern improvements. There is sufficient vacant space upon the property to meet our future needs, including the Memorial Hall, and in case of extraordinary expansion additional ground may be secured.

In taking stock of this possession which has come to the American College of Surgeons through the generous gift of the lay and professional citizens of Chicago, we find ourselves greatly enriched in the needed assets of the College. Our present temporary quarters are thoroughly inadequate, and with a renewal of the lease, which would have been necessary in May, our rent would have been increased to six or seven thousand dollars a year and we would still have been handicapped by a makeshift. The new building furnishes immediately a dignified clearing-house for our organization, and administrative offices that will be adequate for its purposes for a great many years. If the building had been erected to supply the administrative needs of the College for fifty years to come, it could not have been a more convenient structure than this in point of space and arrangement of rooms. However, we are not providing for the immediate present alone in obtaining this property, but for the remote future, and we have the satisfaction of knowing that our holdings will advance rapidly in value since the next extension of the business loop of Chicago will in all probability include our property.

Having provided for our immediate administrative needs in this present building, what will be our subsequent moves? First, the building of the Memorial Hall and accessories; second, the establishment of a working Museum, with its building and upkeep independently endowed; also through independent endowment, the establishment of a department of Literary Research, either with or without a medical library.

PRESENTATION AND ACCEPTANCE OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE HOME

The Secretary General then presented to the President and to the Fellows the gift from the citizens of Chicago of the property and building at 40 East Erie Street, to be used as a permanent administrative home for the College. Upon a request from the Chair for a resolution concerning this gift, Dr. John M. T. Finney made the following motion:

WHEREAS, the citizens of Chicago have presented to the American College of Surgeons for a permanent administrative home a site and building at 40 East Erie Street, Chicago,

BE IT RESOLVED, that this site and building be accepted, and a suitable letter of thanks expressing appreciation of the gift be drafted and forwarded to the citizens of Chicago.

As one of those who from the start had consistently favored Washington as the site of the permanent home, Dr. Finney, upon the seconding of his motion, asked for the privilege of making a few remarks concerning the resolution he had just proposed. He said in part:

"There has been some misapprehension in the minds of a number of Fellows as to where the College really stood on the question of the location of a home, and I deem it not only a duty but a very pleasant privilege to offer a word of explanation in order that this misapprehension concerning the facts of the matter may no longer exist. The Committee appointed to consider a site for the College favored on the whole the City of Washington, although it could come to no unanimous decision. At the annual meeting held in Washington on November 16, 1916, the feeling of the Board of Regents was not in perfect accord concerning the site. As far as I know, there has never been a vote taken by the Regents of the College that had to do with questions of principle unless that vote were unanimous, and, therefore, as President and presiding officer, I did not ask for a vote at that time. Subsequently the matter was thoroughly discussed at various meetings, and in Atlantic City in June, 1919, five Regents who had previously favored Washington unanimously and enthusiastically voted in favor of Chicago. The experiences of these men in Washington and in Europe during the War brought them to the conclusion that while there were obvious advantages in the Capital as the governmental and political center of the country, there were more definite and potent reasons why it was unsuitable for the permanent home of the College. Furthermore, the vote by letter of the Fellows was overwhelmingly in favor of Chicago, and the offer at this time of the splendid property just purchased seemed so opportune and advantageous that, since there was no good reason for holding out, it seemed clearly a duty to reach a decision, and that decision was in favor of Chicago."

Dr. Finney's motion was unanimously carried by the Fellows.

HOSPITAL STANDARDIZATION*

The American College of Surgeons, at its beginning in 1913, included among its purposes the betterment of medical education and of the clinical practice of medicine. It recognized that matters of public health and of the prevention of disease are inseparable from these purposes. Work in these fields is known as hospital standardization.

The administrators of the College took up hospital standardization with no preconceived idea or theory as to what should be done. They decided to study actual conditions, to find out what the normal processes of growth are and how these processes could be given speed. No "announcements" were made of this plan, but for two years a preliminary analysis was quietly pursued.

These two years of work made clear, first, that the hospitals are of importance beyond estimate as clinical training centers in medical education; second, that the hospitals offer the most tangible access to problems of the practice of medicine, and third, that the hospitals (doctors, superintendents, and trustees) would welcome any constructive plan through which they might the better accomplish their own aims in education and in the care of the sick and injured.

During these two years the College accumulated data and wide personal acquaintance among hospital folk which served as a basis of procedure. These "assets" were gathered from every state in the Union and from every province in Canada. They grew out of conferences with hospital staffs, with city, county, and state medical societies, with superintendents, and with hospital trustees. As the climax to this preliminary work, the State Committees on Standards met in Chicago on October 19 and 20, 1917, and out of this conference grew the General Hospital Committee which met in Washington, December 8 and 9, 1917.

After these two meetings the program of the College took more concrete form. That program was, first, to define a Minimum Standard; second, to enlist the coöperation of the hospitals in the fulfillment of the Standard, this work to be accomplished through personal visits to the hospitals by staff members of the College; and third, to publish from time to time the list of hospitals throughout the two countries which fulfilled the Minimum Standard. The publication of the list, however, was not to occur until the hospitals themselves generally approved of such publication, each hospital having been given full opportunity to meet the Standard under normal conditions.

The Minimum Standard, in accordance with this plan, was then defined. But in the meantime this Standard, during the past two years, had been in process of coming gradually to light. It grew out of straight thinking among the clearest minds in medical and hospital work on the continent. It is practicable and workable. It costs effort rather than money. It safeguards the care of every patient admitted to the hospital by insistence upon competence on the part of the doctor, by thorough study and diagnoses in writing for each case, and by a checking up, at least once each month, of the clinical service of the hospital. It fixes responsibility throughout the hospital. It calls for the "production sheets" of the hospital. It encourages and even compels clinical research. It defines the minimum service to the patient which, beyond all debate, is considered essential.

The Minimum Standard as adopted follows:

THE MINIMUM STANDARD

1. That physicians and surgeons privileged to practice in the hospital be organized as a definite group or staff. Such organization has nothing to do with the question as to whether the hospital is "open" or "closed," nor need it affect the various existing types of staff organization. The word staff is here defined as the group of doctors practicing in the hospital inclusive of all groups such as the "regular staff," the "visiting staff," and the "associate staff."

2. That membership upon the staff be restricted to physicians and surgeons who are (a) competent in their respective fields, and (b) worthy in character and in matters of professional ethics; that in this latter connection the practice of the division of fees, under any guise whatever, be prohibited.

3. That the staff initiate and, with the approval of the governing board of the hospital, adopt rules, regulations, and policies governing the professional work of the hospital; that these rules, regulations, and policies specifically provide: (a) That staff meetings be held at least once each month. (In large hospitals the departments may choose to meet separately.) (b) That the staff review and analyze at regular intervals the clinical experience of the staff in the various departments of the hospital, such as medicine, surgery, and obstetrics; the clinical records of patients, free and pay, to be the basis for such review and analyses.

4. That accurate and complete case records be written for all patients and filed in an accessible manner in the hospital, a complete case record being one, except in an emergency, which includes the personal history; the physical examination with clinical, pathological, and X-Ray findings when indicated; the working diagnosis; the treatment, medical and surgical; the medical progress; the condition on discharge, with final diagnosis; and, in case of death, the autopsy findings when available.

5. That clinical laboratory facilities be available for the study, diagnoses, and treatment of patients, these facilities to include at least chemical, bacteriological, serological, histological, radiographic, and fluoroscopic service in charge of trained technicians.

During the years 1918 and 1919 visitors from the College, in accordance with the foregoing plan, visited the general hospitals of 100 beds or more in the United States and Canada. This list includes 671 institutions. The purpose of the visits by staff members of the College is not merely to record data from each institution, but also to make clear the meaning of the Minimum Standard and to answer questions with regard to the practical problems arising in connection with the adoption of the Standard.

The following table indicates in condensed form the findings of the survey in the hospitals of 100 beds or more. In this table 671 hospitals are considered. Of this group 198 hospitals today meet the Minimum Standard. Many of these hospitals have been visited twice during the last two years and in such cases the second report was utilized in the table. In many instances, also, the hospitals pledged themselves to fulfill the Minimum Standard at the earliest practicable date and later made a signed report of the extent of their success. The reports of the hospitals received in this way are also embodied in the table.

*Number of hospitals is reduced by failure in some instances to take action against division of fees.

The hospitals which have "come up" to the Minimum standard express themselves freely that they will never be content now with a less standard. Especially have the regular staff meetings and the reviews of the clinical services created an incentive for careful study, diagnoses, and treatment of patients. They have made for team-work throughout the institutions and for genuine clinical research. Another resultant is that hospitals, as never before, seek today for superintendents of broad vision and of sound executive ability.

About 110 hospitals in the group visited have during the past years provided for themselves case record systems and clinical laboratories. In the consensus of opinion among doctors and hospital superintendents today, most of the hospital "difficulties" will disappear when hospitals generally have put the Minimum Standard into effective operation. Again, in many communities the work of hospital standardization has awakened a real interest on the part of the public; and this interest has already found expression in terms of new financial support from the public.

CHRONOLOGICAL STATEMENT OF HOSPITAL STANDARDIZATION

May 5, 1913. American College of Surgeons organized in Washington, D. C. Betterment of service in hospitals among objects of College.

June 22, 1914. Plan to raise permanent Endowment Fund for the College approved by the Fellows, the income from this Fund to be used in carrying out purposes of the College.

December 1, 1915. Endowment Fund of $526,000 subscribed by Fellows of the College.

January 27, 1916. Gift of $30,000 from the Carnegie Corporation, New York, to be used for hospital standardization.

September 27, 1916. American Hospital Association in session at Philadelphia invited to coöperate with College in hospital standardization. Association appointed a committee to coöperate with the College as invited.

October 27, 1916. Plan to organize State and Provincial Committees on Standards to guide and aid in the program of hospital standardization voted by Fellows.

November 30, 1916. Members of State and Provincial Committees on Standards elected by ballot.

January 11, 1917. Plan of hospital standardization, in relation to Catholic hospitals, approved by His Eminence, James Cardinal Gibbons, at Baltimore.

October 19, 20, 1917. Meeting of the State Committees on Standards in Chicago. Throughout two days the following subjects were considered:

1. The number, distribution, valuation, and general classification of hospitals, and the relation of hospitals to the general public.
2. What the profession of medicine wants in hospitals.
3. How to bring about desired conditions in hospitals.

About three hundred members of State Committees on Standards and sixty leading hospital superintendents present at Conference. The papers presented, together with summary of discussion, published as Bulletin, Vol. III, No. 1.

October 25, 1917. General Hospital Committee of twenty-one appointed by Regents to outline questionnaire and consider the Minimum Standard as advised by Conference, October 20th.

December 8, 9, 1917. General Hospital Committee met in Washington with Regents of College. An initial questionnaire formulated. Details of Minimum Standard considered with reference to the following: a system of financial accounting and of making annual reports; uniform nomenclature; the training of superintendents; the training of internes; the training of nurses; hospital organization; staff rules and regulations; function of staff meetings; case records and follow-up of records; post mortem examinations; clinical laboratories; out-patient department; economic relation of the hospital to its community; ethics of medical practice in the hospital; education of patients and of community in matters of health, hygiene, and sanitation; responsibility of the hospital to the patient; encouragement of medical research and of medical education; hospital library; continuity of service to patients by doctors; dietetics; the testing of materials and supplies before purchase; the receiving and checking-out of materials and supplies through the hospital storeroom; model plans for new buildings and additions; and means of increasing the financial support of the hospital.

December 10, 1917. Meeting of Governors of College in Washington. Program of hospital standardization approved. Consensus of opinion that the work should be carried out through personal inspection by staff members of the College.

February 15, 1918. General hospitals of 25 beds or more invited to coöperate with College in hospital program. Invitation and questionnaire sent to 2,711 hospitals. Copy of invitation and of questionnaire also sent to Fellows for their information.

March 1, 1918. Minimum Standard and plan of hospital standardization sent to hospitals and to Fellows. Bulletin, Vol. III, No. 3.

April 1, 1918. Work of personal investigation of hospitals begun. Investigations limited to general hospitals of 100 beds or more. Visitors employed to explain to hospital trustees, superintendents, and staffs the hospital program of College and to make reports of hospital conditions as indicated by Minimum Standard. Report forms designed for this purpose. Coöperation of Fellows with visitors. Illustration of visitors' report follows:

HOSPITAL STANDARDIZATION REPORT

Name of Hospital: Blodgett Memorial Hospital, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Date of Visit: March 15, 1919.

Visitor: Anna C. Phillips.

Type: General.

No. of Beds: 125.

No. of Internes: None; usually 3.

No. in Nurses' Training School: 71.

Staff Organization: Open hospital without definitely organized staff; no review or analysis of professional work; division of fees not permitted.

Case Records: Current records consisted only of nurses' notes, anesthetic record in surgical cases, and final diagnoses. Occasional physical examinations and laboratory reports found among filed records. Records filed on shelves in general office by clerk.

Clinical Laboratories: Pathological: accessible, light, well equipped; no pathologist, no technician; facilities used occasionally by attending doctors. X-Ray: accessible, well planned, completely equipped; no technician; facilities used only occasionally by attending doctors.

Notes: Conditions as to staff organization, case records, and laboratories discussed with executive committee of board and with superintendent; work of College explained. Effort being made to secure laboratory technician. Board responsive and much interested. Glad to coöperate. Ideals of all connected with hospital excellent.

Summary of Final Action Reported August 12, 1919

Staff Organization: Staff reorganized, meets bi-weekly to consider the character of the clinical service and other matters relative to the care of patients, such as laboratory service, etc. In the reorganization there are two groups:

1. Executive Group: Experts in special fields of work.
2. Associate Group: General practitioners.

In accepting appointment to staff, physicians and surgeons are required to agree to the following:

"To abide by the rules and regulations of the hospital, and to adhere at all times to the well recognized, lofty principles governing the reputable practice of medicine and surgery.

"That as a principle I shall not engage in the division of fees under any guise whatever, nor knowingly permit any agent or associate of mine so to do.

"To exercise to the best of my ability a constructive interest in the hospital, and to coöperate in making it as potent a factor as possible in the preservation of public health in this community."

Case Records: A complete new record system instituted July 1, 1919. Complete case records including personal history, physical examination, working diagnosis, laboratory findings, treatment or operation, progress notes, and final diagnoses are kept for all classes of patients treated, free and pay.

Clinical Laboratories: The X-Ray department is in charge of a full time röntgenologist; the pathological laboratory is in charge of a full time technician; serological and histological work sent to outside laboratory.

June 20, 1918. Meeting in Chicago of Catholic Hospital Association. The following resolutions were passed:

Be it resolved: That we, the Catholic Hospital Association of the United States and Canada, now assembled at Chicago in our third annual convention, approve of the work being done by the American College of Surgeons for the standardization of hospitals, and assure the College of our fullest coöperation in its endeavor for the betterment of hospitals and the resultant increased welfare of mankind.

Be it resolved: That we, the members of the Catholic Hospital Association, pledge ourselves to organize controlled staffs in our hospitals; to establish or continue an adequate system of case records, with a Sister in charge having full authority to demand the careful coöperation of doctors, internes, and nurses; to secure from our superiors, staffs, or friends, funds properly to equip all necessary laboratories and to bring about as soon as possible the scientific training of our Sisters and technicians of all kinds, anesthetists, dieticians, record-keepers, and social service experts.

We further pledge ourselves to urge all surgeons who are privileged to practice in the hospitals of the Association and who are not at this time Fellows in the American College of Surgeons, to qualify, as soon as they are able, for Fellowship in the College.

We further wish to express our desire that all doctors who practice in our hospitals be or become, as soon as practicable, members in good standing of their respective county medical societies and contribute their share to the active medical life of said societies.

We further wish to express our conviction that the secret division of fees, as condemned by the American College of Surgeons, is an unethical and nefarious practice which we pledge ourselves to keep out or root out of our hospitals.

June 21, 1918. Meeting in Chicago of Bishops and Archbishops (or their representatives) of the Catholic Church in the United States and Canada to consider the program of the College in relation to Catholic hospitals. Program of the College approved.

September, 1918. Meeting in Hamilton, Ontario, of the combined Surgical Section of the Ontario Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association. The following resolution was passed:

Be it resolved: That we, the Surgical Section of the combined meeting of the Ontario Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association, desire to go on record as approving the efforts being made by the American College of Surgeons to improve the status of surgical practice in our hospitals . . . that the right to attempt major surgery should be restricted to those who are recognized as having scientific training, experience, sound judgment, and honesty of purpose . . . that examinations for diagnosis and for treatment should be made more closely associated with clinical laboratories than they are at present. . . .

October 23, 1918. Hospital conference arranged to be held in New York in connection with the Clinical Congress of the College. Fellows of the College and hospital superintendents of the United States and Canada invited. Meeting cancelled because of influenza.

January 15, 1919. Bulletin, Vol. IV, No. 1, published. Detailed explanation of the Minimum Standard with special reference to the meaning and use of case records. 27,000 copies distributed.

January 15, 1919. Bulletin, Vol. IV, No. 2, published. Forms suggested for the keeping of case records in a simple, convenient, and adequate manner. 27,000 copies distributed.

February 1, 1919, to May 15, 1919. Hospital conferences, many of them including one or more states or provinces, arranged throughout western half of United States and Canada. Hospital standardization presented to hospital trustees, superintendents, medical profession, nurses, and general public. These conferences usually included special meetings with county medical societies, chambers of commerce, business men's associations, and Canadian clubs. The conferences were designed to supplement the work of hospital visitors on the Staff of the College. Meetings were held at St. Louis, Memphis, New Orleans, Fort Worth, Denver, Ogden, Salt Lake, San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, Minneapolis.

September 11, 1919. American Conference on Hospital Service organized at Cincinnati. Chairmanship of Committee in charge of standardization of hospital service voted to American College of Surgeons.

October 24, 1919. Report to Fellows of the College in connection with the Ninth meeting of Clinical Congress of the College, New York, concerning hospital standardization as applied to general hospitals of 100 beds or more. The practical administration of the Minimum Standard presented.

REQUIREMENTS FOR FELLOWSHIP

Immediately after the organization of the College the Board of Regents authorized the appointing of Committees on Credentials. These Committees consist of the Central Committee which reports its recommendations for Fellowship directly to the Regents, and of State and Provincial Committees which report to the Central Committee.

In a separate bulletin the requirements for admission are published in detail. Briefly stated, these requirements are as follows:

1. The candidate shall be a graduate of medicine, licensed to practice medicine in his respective state or province, or accepted as a medical officer in the service of his respective country.
2. To be eligible for Fellowship without technical examination the candidate shall be a graduate of a medical school approved by the American College of Surgeons. If the candidate's school of graduation is not accredited by the American College of Surgeons, he may be required to pass a technical examination in one or all subjects of the medical curriculum.

3. The candidate shall give evidence that he has served at least one year as interne in a creditable hospital and two years as surgical assistant, or he shall give evidence of apprenticeship of equivalent value. Five to eight years after graduation in medicine, devoted to special training and to practice, are normally the time-requirement for eligibility to Fellowship. Due importance is attached to laboratory and research work.

4. The moral and ethical fitness of the candidate shall be determined by reports of surgeons whose names are submitted by the candidate himself, and by such other reports and data as the Credentials Committee and the administration of the College may obtain.

5. The professional activity of the candidate shall be restricted to the study, diagnosis, and operative work in general surgery or in special fields of surgery, such as eye, ear, nose and throat, genito-urinary, orthopedics, and gynecology and obstetrics, as follows: First, if the candidate resides in a city of less than fifty thousand inhabitants, at least fifty per cent. of his professional activity shall be restricted to practice of general surgery or to practice within special fields of surgery as stated. Second, in cities of over fifty thousand inhabitants, at least eighty per cent. of the professional activity of the candidate shall be restricted to practice of general surgery or to practice within special fields of surgery. In other words, the College desires to admit to its Fellowship only those who are primarily specialists in surgery, and the minimum proportion of specialization which is acceptable may vary according to the size of the city in which the candidate resides.

6. The candidate shall make formal application for Fellowship. Blank forms for this purpose may be had from the Secretary General of the College upon request.

7. In making application for Fellowship the candidate shall sign a declaration which reads as follows:

"I hereby promise, upon my honor as a gentleman, that I will not, so long as I am a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, practice division of fees in any form; neither by collecting fees for others referring patients to me; nor by permitting them to collect my fees for me; nor will I make joint fees with physicians or surgeons referring patients to me for operation or consultation; neither will I in any way, directly or indirectly, compensate any one referring patients to me; nor will I utilize any man as an assistant as a subterfuge for this purpose."

8. The Regents of the College reserve the right to alter, as they may think proper, the regulations respecting admission of Fellows to the College.

9. As evidence of his qualifications in the technique of surgery, the candidate is requested to submit in complete detail the case records of fifty consecutive major operations which he has performed himself.

10. In addition to the complete case records of fifty consecutive major operations, the candidate is asked to submit in brief abstract a report of at least fifty other major operations in which he has acted as assistant or which he has performed himself.

11. Surgeons widely recognized by the profession as progressive leaders and exponents of finished technique may, by a unanimous vote of the Board of Regents, be admitted to Fellowship on recommendation of the Committee on Examinations.

CONVOCATIONS

The first Convocation of the College was held in Chicago on November 12, 1913. The Fellowship address was delivered by Sir Rickman Godlee, Bart., K.C.V.O., LL.D., F.R.C.S., President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. Fellowships were conferred upon 1,059 candidates. At this time Sir Rickman presented to the College the following greetings from the Royal College of Surgeons:

"We, the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, have heard with much interest of the approaching inauguration of the American College of Surgeons. We hereby convey to it our hearty good wishes, and express the hope that it may have a successful career and fill a position beneficial alike to the Profession and to the Community.

"We cannot forget the important advances in the Science and Art of Surgery achieved by many distinguished Surgeons in the Continent of America during the past, and are proud to have enrolled upon our list of Honorary Fellows the names of some of the most active workers in these fields at the present day.

"In accepting the invitation for our President to take part in the opening Ceremony, we desire to show how we appreciate the intention of the American College to strengthen the bonds that already unite the Medical Profession amongst English-speaking peoples. It is a sentiment which always meets with a cordial response in this country, and it is one which this College will endeavor to support by all the means in its power.

"In witness whereof we have caused the Common Seal of the College to be hereunto affixed this 9th day of October, 1913.

President RICKMAN J. GODLEE

Vice-Presidents { G. H. MAKINS
FREDERIC EVE"

The second Convocation was held in Philadelphia on June 22, 1914. Fellowships were conferred upon 1,065 candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by Dr. James G. Mumford of Clifton Springs, New York.

The third Convocation was held in Washington, D. C., on the evening of November 16, 1914. Fellowships were conferred upon 646 candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by Dr. Edward H. Bradford, Dean of Harvard Medical School.

The fourth Convocation was held in Boston on October 29, 1915. Fellowships were conferred upon 484 candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by President E. J. James of the University of Illinois.

The fifth Convocation was held in Philadelphia on October 27, 1916. The Fellowship address was delivered by President John H. Findley of the University of the State of New York, and Fellowships were conferred upon 228 candidates.

The sixth Convocation was held in Chicago on October 26, 1917. Fellowships were conferred upon 313 candidates, 37 of these being in the regular service of the United States Army and 25 in the regular service of the United States Navy. The occasion was a great military gathering, hundreds of medical officers being present on leave. The Fellowship address, entitled "What is the War About," was delivered by Sir Berkeley Moynihan, K.C.M.G., F.R.C.S., Colonel in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

The seventh Convocation of the College was scheduled to be held in New York on the evening of October 25, 1918. On October 12th, because of the prevalence of influenza throughout Canada and the United States, the Regents considered it imperative to cancel the meeting.

In the meantime the surgeons from England, France, and Italy who had accepted the invitation of the College to take part in the Clinical Congress program had sailed for New York. These surgeons were Sir Thomas Myles, C.B., F.R.C.S., Dublin, Ireland, Honorary Surgeon to His Majesty, King George, Consulting Surgeon, Irish Command, Member Board of Consultants, British War Office, and Senior Surgeon, Richmond Hospital, Dublin; Lieutenant Colonel Raffaele Bastianelli, F.R.C.S., Italian Army Medical Corps, Rome, Italy, Associate Professor of Clinical Surgery, Royal University, and Surgeon-in-Chief, First Pavillion, Hospital Policlinico Umberto I; Major Pierre Duval, French Army Medical Corps, Paris, France, Consulting Surgeon to Seventh Army, Honorary Professor, Faculty of Medicine, Paris, and Surgeon to hospitals of Paris; Colonel George Ernest Gask, C.M.G., D.S.O., F.R.C.S., London, England, Consulting Surgeon, British Expeditionary Forces, Joint Lecturer on Surgery, St. Bartholomew's Hospital, University of London, and Surgeon in Charge of Out-Patients, St. Bartholomew's Hospital; Major George Grey Turner, F.R.C.S., Royal Army Medical Corps, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, Lecturer on Surgery, University of Durham, and Honorary Assistant Surgeon, Royal Infirmary, Newcastle-on-Tyne; and Major Adrien L. P. Piollet and Major Henri Béclerc, both of the French Army Medical Corps. Lieutenant Colonel George E. Brewer of New York, at the time in service in France, came with these guests as the official representative of the Medical Corps with the American Expeditionary Forces.

In order that the value of the messages which these surgeons brought from the allied lines at the front might not be lost as a result of the cancelled meeting, the College arranged visits to as many of the surgical centers in this country as possible. These visits included Washington, where the foreign guests were greeted by President Woodrow Wilson, Camp Greenleaf, Georgia, where approximately 1,500 doctors were in training, Minneapolis, Rochester, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and New York.

The seventh Convocation was held in New York on October 24, 1919, when 325 candidates from the previous year were formally admitted to Fellowship together with 213 new candidates. The Fellowship address was delivered by Sir Anthony Bowlby of London, Senior Vice-President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. Honorary Fellowships were conferred upon Sir Anthony Bowlby, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., K.C.V.O., F.R.C.S., London; Sir Robert Jones, K.B.E., D.Sc., L.R.C.P., F.R.C.S., Liverpool; Professor Theodore Tuffier, the eminent Chief of Hospital Beaujon, Paris; and Irving Heward Cameron, LL.D., F.R.C.S., Toronto, Ontario. Surgeon General Merritte W. Ireland, Medical Corps, United States Army, was delegated by the Secretary of War to present to Sir Anthony and to Sir Robert the Distinguished Service Medal of the United States of America.

ACADEMIC ROBE

The gown adopted by the Board of Regents to be worn by the Fellows at the Convocations of the College consists of a body of navy blue mohair faced with scarlet velvet. The mortar-board cap is of the same blue material, with a scarlet tassel.

THE BY-LAWS

I. NAME. The name of the corporation shall be the American College of Surgeons.

II. OBJECT. The object of the College shall be to elevate the standard of surgery, to establish a standard of competency and of character for practitioners of surgery, to provide a method of granting Fellowships in the organization, and to educate the public and the profession to understand that the practice of surgery calls for special training and that the surgeon elected to Fellowship in this College has had such training and is properly qualified to practice surgery.

III. THE COLLEGE. 1. The College shall consist of all members of the corporation. Such members are to be designated as Fellows. The College shall vest the general management of the corporation in a Board of Governors. The Board of Governors shall, in turn, vest the details of the management in a board of trustees to be known as the Board of Regents.

2. The College shall hold an annual meeting on the day and at the place selected for the annual meeting of the Board of Governors.

IV. BOARD OF GOVERNORS. 1. The original Board of Governors shall consist of the surgeons invited by the Organization Committee to serve as Founders of the College, who have qualified as Fellows. The members of this first Board of Governors shall also be known as the Founders of the American College of Surgeons.

2. The original Board of Governors shall be divided by lot into three classes to serve one, two, and three years, respectively. At the annual meeting in 1914, and at the annual meeting in each year thereafter, the Fellows of the College shall elect (in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents) fifty surgeons from among the Fellows of the College to membership on the Board of Governors, each to serve for a term of three years; thirty of these members are to be elected from a list of nominations, consisting of three members each nominated by the following sixteen surgical associations and societies of North America, including one each from the United States Army and from the United States Navy:

1. American Surgical Association.
2. Surgical Section of the American Medical Association.
3. Section on Obstetrics, Gynecology and Abdominal Surgery of the American Medical Association.
4. General Surgical Division of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.
5. Division of Surgical Specialties of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.
6. American Gynecological Society.
7. Southern Surgical Association.
8. Western Surgical Association.
9. Section on Surgery of the Canadian Medical Association.
10. American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.
11. American Orthopedic Association.
12. American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons.
13. American Laryngological Association.
14. American Ophthalmological Society.
15. American Otological Society.
16. American Institute of Homeopathy.

Twenty members shall be elected at large to represent surgeons of North America not affiliated with the above societies or associations. In case of failure of any of the above named organizations to make its quota of nominations, or in case of duplication of nominees, the Board of Regents shall nominate members from among the Fellows at large for the vacancies so caused in the list of nominees. The Board of Regents shall in the same manner fill all vacancies in the current membership of the Board of Governors due to death, resignation, or other causes.

3. The Board of Governors shall at its first meeting elect from among its own membership fifteen who shall be members of the Board of Regents; this group shall be divided into three classes of five members each, whose terms of office shall expire in one, two, and three years, respectively. As the term of service in each class expires, their successors shall be elected, each for a term of three years, by the Board of Governors in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents. Not more than four of each class shall be selected from one country. In event of death or resignation of any member of the Board of Regents, his successor shall be elected at the next regular or special meeting of the Board of Governors, but the Board of Regents may appoint a member of the Board of Governors to serve as Regent until this election takes place.

4. The Board of Governors shall meet in executive session annually for the transaction of business, which business shall include the election of members of the Board of Regents and other routine business which may be brought before it by the corporation or the Board of Regents. Such meetings shall be called by the Secretary General, at the direction of the Board of Regents. Special meetings of the Board of Governors may be called by the Secretary General at any other time at the request of the Board of Regents. Members of the Board of Governors shall be expected to attend other formal meetings and convocations called by the Board of Regents for the purpose of conferring Fellowships and the transaction of other business.

5. Fifty members of the Board of Governors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

V. OFFICERS. 1. The officers of the College shall be a President of the College, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Secretary General, a Director, and a Treasurer.

2. The President, the First Vice-President, and the Second Vice-President shall be elected each for a term of one year or until his successor is elected by the Fellows of the College at their annual meeting. The Secretary General, the Director, and the Treasurer shall be appointed by the Board of Regents. The Treasurer shall be appointed for a term of one year or until his successor is elected; the Secretary General and the Director shall hold office during the pleasure of the Board.

3. The President of the College shall preside at all regular and special meetings of the College and of the Board of Governors, and at all Convocations for the conferring of Fellowships.

4. The First Vice-President shall preside at all meetings of the College in the absence of the President, and in the event of the death or resignation of the President shall assume the duties of that officer.

5. The Second Vice-President shall preside at all meetings of the College in the absence of the President and of the First Vice-President, and in the event of the death or resignation of these two officers shall assume the duties of the President.

6. The Secretary General shall be the chief executive officer of the College. Under the direction of the Board of Regents he shall have supervision of all activities and business affairs of the College, including the direction of the general executive office; he shall audit all expenditure and disbursement of funds of the College; he shall have charge of the Convocations and of the Clinical Congress of the College; he shall mail to the proper addresses all notices of all regular and special meetings of the College; he shall issue at stated intervals the Year Book of the College; he shall attend all meetings of the Board of Regents.

7. The Director shall be the chief executive officer of the educational activities of the College and under the direction of the Board of Regents shall have charge of admissions to Fellowship, of hospital standardization, and of other matters concerned with the educational work of the College; he shall have power to appoint and to remove subordinate employees engaged in the work of the College for which he is responsible. He shall attend all meetings of the Executive Committee and of the Board of Regents.

8. The Treasurer shall receive all funds of the College and disburse the same on checks, signed by him and countersigned by the Director or by the Secretary General. He shall make a report in writing to the Board of Regents at each meeting of that Board of the moneys received and expended, and shall furnish a detailed statement of the financial condition of the College at each annual meeting of the Board of Regents. The Treasurer shall furnish a bond to the Board of Regents for the faithful performance of his trust.

VI. BOARD OF REGENTS. 1. The Board of Regents shall consist of sixteen members, fifteen of whom shall be elected from among the Fellows by the Board of Governors in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents. One member shall be elected by the Fellows of the College at their annual meeting as hereinafter provided, the Fellow thus elected to membership in the Board of Regents to be President of the College.

2. The Chairman of the Board of Regents shall be elected from among the members of the Board of Regents for a term of one year and shall preside at all meetings of the Board. In the event of his death or resignation, the office shall be filled by election at the next meeting of the Board.

3. The Secretary General of the corporation shall be the Secretary of the Board of Regents.

4. The duties of the Board of Regents shall be those ordinarily performed by a governing board, namely: To transact all detail business devolving upon the Board of Governors in carrying out the object of the organization; to regulate and to conserve the property interests of the College; to adopt rules and regulations for the admission of Fellows; to fix initial fees and annual dues of Fellowship; to create, appoint, and direct all standing committees; to elect Fellows to the College; to call all meetings of the corporation not already provided for; to arrange Convocations or other meetings for the conferring of Fellowships; to transact all business not otherwise provided for that may pertain to the organization.

5. Nine members of the Board of Regents shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

6. Regular meetings of the Board of Regents shall occur once in twelve months at the call of the Secretary General. Special meetings may be convened at any time by the Secretary General, or on a request to him made in writing and signed by thirty members of the Board of Governors, or by nine members of the Board of Regents.

VII. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. 1. There shall be an Executive Committee, consisting, first, of the President of the College, of the Secretary General, and of the Treasurer; and second, of five other Regents elected by the Board of Regents by ballot for a term of three years, who shall be eligible for reelection, provided, however, that, of the members of the Committee first elected by the Board of Regents after the adoption of these by-laws, two shall serve for one year, two for two years, and one for three years, and such members of the Committee shall determine their respective term by lot. Should the term of service, however, of any member of the Executive Committee terminate as a member of the Board of Regents, his term of service upon the Executive Committee also thereby terminates.

2. At least thirty days prior to the annual meeting of the Board of Regents, a Nominating Committee, consisting of the Chairman of the Board and of two Regents appointed by him, shall send notices by mail to all members of the Board of the vacancies in the Executive Committee to be filled at the ensuing annual meeting, and shall invite suggestions of names of Regents to be nominated as members of the Executive Committee. The nomination of this Committee shall be voted upon by the Board of Regents.

3. During the intervals between the meetings of the Board, the Executive Committee shall exercise all the powers of the Board of Regents in the management and direction of the business and the conduct of the affairs of the corporation, except that it shall not have power to elect Fellows, or to regulate initial fees or annual dues of Fellowship. It shall have supervision of the property of the corporation, and shall determine the investment of its funds. It shall direct the manner in which the books and accounts of the corporation shall be kept, and shall cause to be examined from time to time the accounts and vouchers of the Treasurer for moneys received and paid out by him. It shall keep a record of its proceedings and report the same to the Board of Regents at the next succeeding meeting for its approval. It may, in its discretion, appoint such sub-committees as it may deem necessary or desirable for the proper transaction of the business of the corporation. Whenever any vacancy shall occur in the Executive Committee, or in any office of the corporation, by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be filled by appointment by the Executive Committee for the remainder of the current corporate year. It may adopt rules and regulations for the conduct of its meetings and the management of the affairs of the corporation, not inconsistent with the laws of the state of the incorporation of the College, and with the by-laws of the College. It may hold its meetings at such place or places as it may from time to time determine. A majority of the Executive Committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

VIII. FELLOWS. 1. The Fellows of the College shall be graduates in medicine who are licensed to practice medicine in their respective states and provinces, or medical officers of the federal services who have made an application for Fellowship (such application being endorsed by three Fellows of the College, one of whom shall be a member of the Board of Governors), who meet the qualification requirements that shall from time to time be established by the Board of Regents, and who shall be elected to Fellowship by the Board of Regents on recommendation of the Committee on Credentials, and who shall have signed the roll.

2. Each individual elected to Fellowship in the College shall be designated as a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and shall be authorized and encouraged to use the letters F.A.C.S. after his name on professional cards, in professional directories, and in articles published in surgical literature.

IX. PUBLICATIONS. The Board of Regents shall issue each year a directory containing the names and addresses of the Fellows of the American College of Surgeons arranged by states, provinces, and colonies.

X. Any Fellow of the College may be expelled for conduct which, in the opinion of the Board of Regents, is derogatory to the dignity of the College or inconsistent with its purposes. Such expulsion must be voted by a majority vote of the whole Board of Regents at any meeting, at which meeting the Fellow against whom charges are made shall be invited to be present, and may appear or may be represented, in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents.

XI. These by-laws may be amended by a majority vote of those present at any regular or special meeting of the Board of Governors, or at a meeting called for the purpose on request made in writing by a hundred members of the Corporation, provided that such proposed amendments are included in the call of the meeting at which such action is contemplated.

XII. The College shall hold an annual session of about one week in length at such place and time as may be determined by the Board of Regents which may include:

1. The Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons consisting of (a) scientific and literary papers concerning or relating to the art and science of surgery; (b) surgical and diagnostic clinics.

2. Annual meeting of the Fellows of the College, as provided by Article III, Section 2.

3. Annual meeting of the Board of Governors of the College, as provided in Article IV, Section 4.

4. Convocation of the College at which occasion candidates for Fellowship may be admitted to Fellowship in the College.

INCORPORATION

STATE OF ILLINOIS

Department of State

CORNELIUS J. DOYLE, Secretary of State

To All to Whom these Presents Shall Come, Greeting:

WHEREAS, a CERTIFICATE, duly signed and acknowledged, has been filed in the office of the Secretary of State, on the 25th day of November, A. D. 1912, for the organization of the
